Yesterday, I spoke at the AFCEA Bethesda Monthly Breakfast series [4] and then moderated a panel about information sharing. The panel included:

- David Burns, Deputy IC Information Sharing Executive, Office of the Assistant Director of National Intelligence for Policy and Strategy;
- Steven Cooper, Executive Director, Law Enforcement Information Sharing Initiative (LEISI), Immigration and Customs Enforcement, Department of Homeland Security;
- John Teeter, Deputy Chief Information Officer, Department of Health and Human Services; and
- Jeremy Warren, Chief Technology Officer, Department of Justice.

It was a great opportunity to speak with colleagues in government and industry about addressing core information sharing challenges, like establishing a roadmap, assessing progress, and looking forward.

To fulfill a few promises I made at the event:

- The slides from my presentation are available here [5].
- An audience member made an interesting and valid call for in-depth discussions of the challenges we all face. This website was designed to be the forum for such discussions. Please visit our discussion board [6] to share, discuss, and vote on ideas and questions.
- Finally, please check back to ise.gov [7] in the near future for more information about how the Information Sharing Environment is engaging with our Industry Partners.
